The Network of Knowledge approach ...

The background: need for a better science policy interface

New & innovative approaches “beyond assessments”

Dialogue, networking and inclusiveness

Methodological diversity

Integration across challenges

Science-Policy-Society-Interfaces...

“Ways in which scientists, other knowledge holders and decision-makers link up to communicate, exchange ideas and tailor knowledge jointly to enrich policy and decision-making processes and/or research.”

Functions

1. Networking and capacity building
2. Answering decision-making needs
3. Identification of knowledge gaps and research needs
4. International collaboration

Added value beyond established approaches:

- Consolidated view from science, & other forms of knowledge as needed

Evolving out of the role of

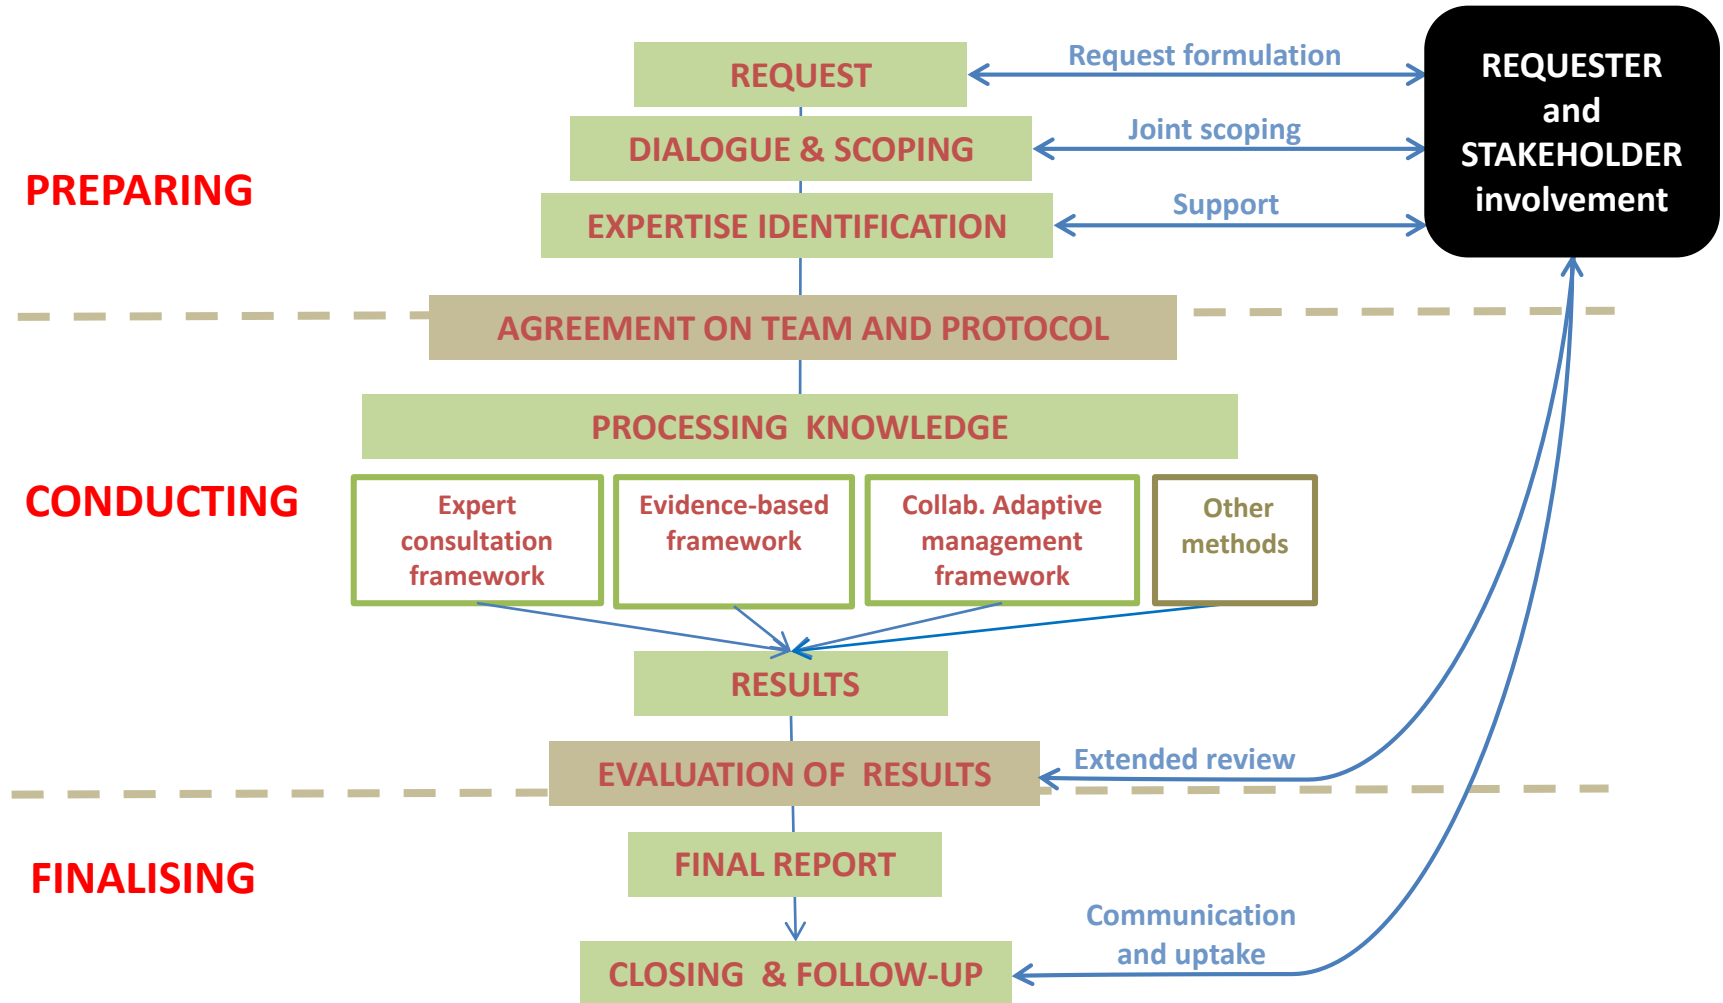

(FP5-FP7)

- One entry point for requests
- Complementary to existing institutions

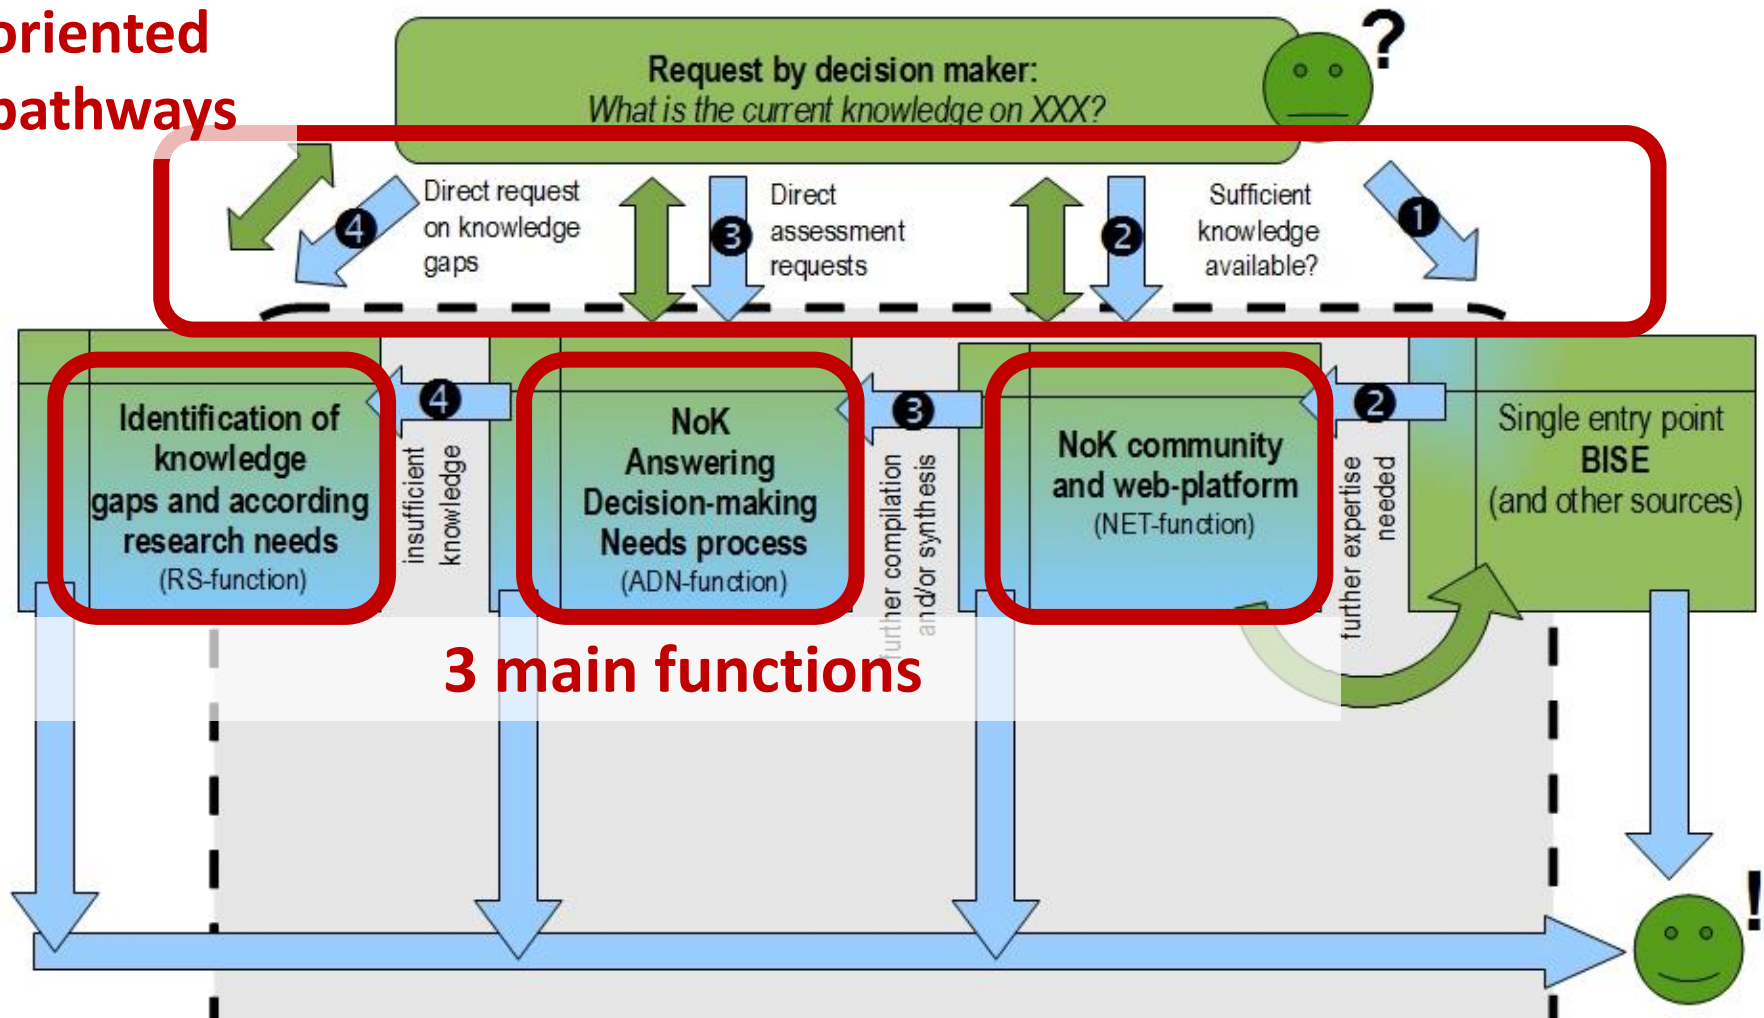

Process to Answer Decision-Making Needs

Functions and processes

Dialogue oriented pathways

Executive summary p.6, Full report, p.31-34

Different roles for knowledge holder institutions

1. Provision of expertise role
2. Knowledge hub role, e.g. learned societies, ALTER-Net, Marbef...
3. Management support role, e.g. institutes, ...
4. Data, information provision role, e.g., EUBON, GBIF, ...
5. Tools and infrastructure provision role, e.g. LIFEWATCH, LTER-Europe,...
6. Capacity building role, e.g. INNGE
7. Communication support role, e.g. NGOs, ...
8. Society and policy interface role, e.g. ENCA, IUCN...

Potential contributions and benefits

Potential involvement of EEA:

1. Short-term contributions? (in setting it up)
2. Long-term contributions? (to support operations)
3. Benefits?
